KNOXVILLE IS VERY WELCOME

When Her Boosters Visit Stanford
Wednesday Morning Will Be Given Cordial Welcome.

Stanford will give hearty welcome to the Knoxville Commercial Club boosters while they are here Wednesday morning, short though their stay may be. There will be something doing every minute of their stay, and the local Chamber of Commerce will be right on the job to prove to them that Stanford is the liveliest little city of its size in Kentucky.

Secretary Jay Howenstine of the Chamber of Commerce will meet the special train upon which the visitors come, at Rowland, and by the time the special is up the hill will have distributed cards to the visitors telling them who's who and why in

THE TRADE TRIP SPECIAL

Stanford.

A big reception Committee of local business men will greet the visitors at the depot here, and all will march directly to the courthouse where Attorney K. S. Alcorn will make a one-minute address of welcome on behalf of Stanford and the Chamber of Commerce and the Knoxville boosters will make a short response. This will be followed in informal handshaking and getting acquainted before the time allotment is up.

ocial.—Knoxville's First Trade Trip, which will start April 11th and continue for four days, will cover 816 miles of territory in Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia and North Carolina. The trip from Knoxville to Jellico will be made over the Southern Railway, and from Jellico to Appalachia, Va., over the L. & N. At Appalachia the "special" will change to the V. & S. W., over whose tracks it will run to Bristol, where connection will be made with the Southern again, over which line the remainder of the trip will be made.

This train of eight cars, which will be equipped with everything necessary to make the trip pleasant, will be the home of the hundred Knoxville business men for the four days of the Letter to Business Men.

Secretary Jay Howenstine has addressed the following letter to every member of the local commercial organization, and business men urging complete co-operation in making the visit of the Knoxville business men tomorrow a memorable one.

Dear Friend:
Just what the city of Knoxville will think of Stanford depends on whether or not you are willing to give thirty minutes of your time toward entertaining the Knoxville delegation at nine o'clock on the morning of April 12. That is Wednesday morning. The citizens of this town will meet in the County Court room next Tuesday night at seven o'clock, April 11th to lay the last plank in the entertainment platform. Come to this meeting, and please be prompt.

There will be 150 of Knoxville's business men on this trip, representing every business and profession. They will have their own band, to make the music. They will go direct to the Court House, where a few words of greeting will be exchanged after which the men of Stanford representing the same business will be asked to entertain the Knoxville men interested in the same profession or business. This will only consist of showing these men through your stores or offices, and will only last for thirty minutes, so give them the best you have.

This is an EVERYBODY'S movement, and we must not let our neighboring towns out do us in this entertainment.

Please bear this date and hour in mind and be at the depot to welcome these Knoxville men. Help to make Stanford a by-word with Knoxville.

Yours for a bigger and better city, Stanford and Lincoln county.

STANFORD IN THE "MOVIES"

Knoxville Boosters to Take Moving Pictures Here.

Quite an interesting and novel feature of the visit of the Knoxville business men here Wednesday will be the operation of a moving picture machine which will take photographs of Stanford life at the hour at which the visitors are here. The Knoxville boosters have, at great expense, engaged a well-known motion picture maker to accompany them on their First Trade Trip, to make pictures of the "special" from the time it leaves the depot at Knoxville until it returns.

Pictures will be made of the crowds that greet the Trade Trip Party at every stop of the train, and many pictures will be made here, and the Knoxville party has expressed a wish that as many people arrange to be in the picture as possible, as the pictures will not only be shown in Knoxville, but will also be shown here and in all of the other towns visited, as well.

As the trade trip special will stop in 43 towns in Tennessee, Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia and North Carolina, the pictures will prove a big advertisement for Stanford, if a good showing is made. Everybody should turn out and give the "special" a rousing welcome, and make the best possible showing for the town.

The picture, which will be between two and three thousand feet in length, will be shown here in a few weeks after the picture is made. The exact date and place will be announced later.

SPEAKERS AT LEXINGTON

Chosen at Contest of Local Senior Expression Pupils

The contest in public speaking and reading was held at the Graded School building Friday evening. The event was assisted by the music department and also it was a very bad night a large crowd was present. The entertainment was divided into two parts; the boys reciting first and between each recitation was a selection of music. There were only two contestants from the boys and both did their part in a pleasing manner. They were Ferdinand Matheny, who gave the reading—"A Message to Garcia," and was awarded first and Clarence Singleton, a very close second, recited—"Education and Responsibility." The second part was taken up with the girls with music between each two recitations. There were four young ladies, all of which deserve much praise. The winners were Margaret Shanks reciting "The Sioux Chief's Daughter," first and Annie Katherine Matheny second, giving "Jack, the Fisherman." The winners of each first were each given a medal for their excellent work by Miss Esther Burch, and will be the contestants who will represent the school at the contest to be held at Lexington. The judges were Mrs. W. R. Todd, Miss Ruth Darnell and Rev. P. L. Bruce.

Reaching Richmond, Ky., at 7:10 p. m., on the first day out, the Knoxville Trade Trip members will unload at the depot, and headed by the University of Tennessee band, march to the business section of the city, where they will hold a joint session with the commercial organization of that place in one of the town's large halls. Speakers from the "special" will tell the Richmonders about Knoxville, what she buys and what she sells, and lots more of general interest, while the Richmond speakers will tell the Knoxville party about their town, what they make, what they have to sell, and many other things. Alternating between the speeches will be concerts by the University of Tennessee Band.

At Middlesboro, where the "special" will arrive at 4:45 on the second evening out, April 12th, another evening meeting will be held similar to the one at Richmond, as will also be done at Johnson City on the evening of the third day and at Asheville on the evening of the last day. At all of the stops the band will play and at many of the Knoxville party will parade, and at every stop the Knoxville plan to make the most of the time the train will tarry.

Told That There Was No Cure for Him.

"After suffering for over 20 years with indigestion and having some of the best doctors here tell me there was no cure for me, I think it only right to tell you for the sake of other sufferers as well as your own satisfaction that a 25 cent bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets not only relieved me but cured me within two months although I am a man of 65 years," writes Jul. Grobner, Houston, Texas. Obtainable everywhere.

GETTING TOGETHER

Purpose of Visit of Knoxville Trade Trip Members Is To Cement Business Relations

Business Men of Knoxville Want to Know More About Conditions Here, and Desire People Here to Know More About Knoxville as a Manufacturing and Jobbing Center.

Back of the white hats, the striped umbrellas, the music, the fun and good-fellowship of the Knoxville Trade Trip, there is a very serious purpose. This Trade Trip has a meaning, and that meaning is illustrative of the business spirit of Knoxville.

For, be it known, that this is "Prosperity Year" in Knoxville—her mills and factories are running, and the wheels of commerce are humming. Knoxville is stirred in every pulse and fibre as she has never been stirred before—with a new spirit of enterprise, of push and purpose that is built upon the solid rock foundation of confidence—confidence in her own future; confidence in the loyalty of her people and aggressiveness of her progressive business men and institutions.

Wm. H. Crouch, leader of the U. of T. Band, which is to visit here.

It is in the spirit of this new prosperity that this First Trade Trip is being made, and it is far from a selfish spirit, for Knoxville is not coming to sell; but to see and to buy!

In her new prosperity she must look beyond her own doors for new material.

Knoxville wants to extend to the people of her sister towns and cities the "glad hand," wants to know them better, and extends to them an invitation to grow as she grows. Knoxville wants us to profit by her prosperity.

There will be a result to this trip that ought to be of special interest to this town. Being, as it is, in itself an example of organization and efficiency, the trip ought to stimulate greater interest in our local commercial organization and in greater commercial activity. Then, too, the visit of the Knoxville Trade Trip will offer to our local boosters an opportunity to do some boosting of their own game. The Special will carry representatives of both of Knoxville's big daily papers, newspapers that are read far and wide. The impression they gather of the towns visited, and which will be gathered by the other members of the party will have a far reaching effect and untold good should result.

Let us go out and meet the "special" in a spirit which will animate them; in a spirit of wanting to get closer together and of co-operation and thereby both sides will be benefited.

Splendid for Rheumatism

"I think Chamberlain's Liniment is just splendid for rheumatism," writes Mrs. Dunburgh, Eldridge, N. Y. "It has been used by myself and other members of my family time and time again during the past six years and has always given the best of satisfaction." The quick relief from pain which Chamberlain's Liniment affords is alone worth many times the cost. Obtainable everywhere.

FINE CATTLE MARKET HERE

Big Run Here Monday and Top Prices Were Realized.

The cattle market here Monday, April Court Day, was one of the finest ever known among stockmen at this time of the year. There were almost 800 cattle in the Nunnelley Stock Pens and Manager T. W. Jones with his assistants was kept busy all day weighing and recording sales. Some extra classy stuff was brought in by the lower county traders, but big feeders snapped them up quickly at fancy prices. The top price of the day was $65 a head for some choice feeders sold by "Uncle Jimmy" Roberts, of Pulaski county to Senator R. L. Hubble, of this city. From this figure they sold down, the average by the head, being about $50, and the top figure by the pound about 8 1-4 cents. Buyers were on hand from a dozen counties, and anything of class changed hands quickly. Stockmen are all pleased with the outlook, and a still better market with a bigger run and more bidders is looked for next court day.

BUSINESS FINE EVERYWHERE.

"Business is fine all over the country," said John Charles Osborne, of Knoxville, who travels over considerable of the south for a big Louisiana lumber firm. Mr. Osborne is in Stanford for a short visit with his wife to her mother, Mrs. Charlotte Warren. Mr. Osborne continued: "There are 100,000 freight cars tied up in the east, which cannot be gotten for western traffic. A prominent L. & N. official told me that the L. & N. has 35,000 cars in the congestion, and that it is cramped for cars exceedingly to handle the big business which is being thrust upon it."

POYNTER SELLS TIMBER.

J. H. Poynter, of Walnut Flat, has just returned from Whitley county where he sold a boundary of timber to D. C. Edwards of London. Mr. Poynter sold about 250,000 feet of poplar lumber and 300,000 feet of hemlock and the deal figured about $1,800. Most of this timber is located on Mr. Poynter's large acreage near Cumberland Falls in Whitley county.

The barn on the farm of J. T. Wells near Dripping Springs, in the East End of the county, burned last Friday night, and with its contents was a total loss. Mr. Wells carried some insurance with D. A. Thomas, of Stanford, and was thus protected. The origin of the fire is unknown.

UNIVERSITY OF TENNESSEE BAND TO GIVE CONCERT HERE

Crack Musical Organization of the State to Accompany Knoxville's Trade Trip Special.

The University of Tennessee Band, one of the crack musical organizations of the state will accompany the Trade Trip Special of the Knoxville business men to furnish the music at this and the other towns visited. The band which is composed of 25 members will give concerts, both of popular and classical music, and all lovers of music should plan to hear these concerts.

AUTO SHOW, TOO, ON MONDAY

More Cars Shown Than Horses and Agents Are Very Busy.

Main street was lined with automobiles Monday, and cattle traders at the stock pens were not a bit busier than were the agents for the various makes of cars. Several sales were reported and all of the agents said that they have a number of live prospects on "the string." W. W. Hays, who is local agent for the Studebaker Six, of which Mahan & Conn. of Danville have the general agency for five counties, sold one of these handsome machines to J. A. Robinson, on the Danville pike. Through M. S. Baughman, local agent for the Overland, S. H. Baughman bought a Willys-Knight touring car equipped with the famous Silent Knight engine. The Bailey Garage Company had a four-cylinder Studebaker on exhibition that is a beauty. Mr. Hays also had a Chevrolet car here, while H. C. Carpenter was busy all day boosting for his famous Maxwells. W. L. McCarty, newly appointed agent for the Dodge, was extolling the merits of that popular make, while H. C. Anderson booked a few more Ford orders, which is almost an everyday affair with him. Roy Arnold, maker of the famous Arnold buggy, had a beautiful model on exhibition here Monday and sold three vehicles. Bris Conn, of Danville, had a very handsome Buick here, and sold one to C. E. Bower, of this city.

BRAKEMAN'S HEAD CUT OFF.

William O. Taylor, a brakeman on the local L. & N. freight, of which Fox Dudderar is engineer and J. A. Carter conductor, had his head cut off, and of course, was instantly killed when he fell under the train while switching cars at Mt. Vernon Friday night. It was rainy and wet and it is supposed that Taylor slipped and fell off a wet car. Taylor was a young man and well liked by all who knew him. He had only been married six months, and in addition to his wife, is survived by his parents, who reside at Gravel Switch. The accident was a wholly unavoidable one in every way by the other members of the crew, it is said.

WAYNESBURG FARMS SOLD.

The hustling real estate firm of Thompson & Reynolds, of Waynesburg, has recently sold the Kirk Padgett farm of 65 acres of nice land on Buck Creek in the Waynesburg section of Lincoln to a Mr. Tackett, of eastern Kentucky for $1,200. The same buyer also purchased through these dealers the Luther Reynolds farm of 60 acres in the same locality for $1,500.

WAYNE OIL FIELDS BEHIND.

For the first time in the history of Kentucky oilfield Wayne county took a back seat in regard to runs—for the week ending March 25, runs show that Irvine field run 4,059.59, while Wayne county was credited with 3,152.05. The same report also shows 6 completions in the Irvine oil field with a production of 200 barrels, while Wayne is credited with only one producer of two barrels.

MONTGOMERY TO MAKE RACE

State Senator Phones Local Friends He Will Be Candidate for Congressional Nomination.

Interest in Eighth District Congressional politics was intensified court day by the arrival of Congressman Harvey Helm from Washington, where congress is in session. Mr. Helm spent Monday on the streets shaking hands, and looking after his political fences in this county. He went from here to Shelbyville, it is understood.

Further interest was aroused over the informal announcement made through local friends that State Senator Charles F. Montgomery, of Casey county, will be a candidate for congress against Mr. Helm. Mr. J. M. Carter, who is a relative of Senator Montgomery, said that Senator Montgomery had phoned him Saturday night that he would be a candidate and requested him to inform his friends. Senator Montgomery was preparing to start for Frankfort where he will be engaged this week in the impeachment proceedings before the state senate against County Judge Williams, of McCreary county. Before the week is over, Senator Montgomery is said to plan to make his formal announcement and to start an active campaign at once all over the district. A number of local friends of Senator Montgomery looked after his interests here Monday and say they found a strong sentiment for him in almost every section of the county. Senator Montgomery is a native of Lincoln county, having been born in the West End, a son of the beloved Christian preacher, Rev. J. Q. Montgomery, and he also married in Lincoln, his wife being a daughter of Col. T. L. Carpenter. Democrats from adjoining counties who were here Monday said that if Senator Montgomery becomes a candidate he will receive a very gratifying support in neighboring counties to Lincoln. Senator Montgomery is a fine speaker, and a splendid young democrat in every way. He has made a great record in the state senate, and is in every way qualified for the office which he will ask of the democrats of the Eighth congressional district.

APPOINTED SCHOOL INSPECTOR

At the regular meeting of the County Board of Education last week Herbert Reynolds, of the Waynesburg section, was appointed Supervisor of Schools for Lincoln county, and will enter at once upon his duties, visiting and inspecting every rural school in the county and seeing that all conform to the standards. Mr. Reynolds is very well qualified for this work, having been a teacher for a number of years. He has recently been admitted to the bar and is well versed on the school laws. The County Board calls attention of the district trustees to the fact that the time of holding the election of school trustees has been changed from the first Saturday in August to the first Saturday in October, and as they understand the present law, the old trustees hold on till the following March.

News of the Churches

Presbyterian church: Mid-week services on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Joshua the Determined Man.

All those who have promised money for the Presbyterian church carpet, are requested to leave it with Miss Sue Rout at Severance's store within the next few days.

H. O. Young will organize a singing school at Neal's creek Saturday afternoon at 1:30. Singing will also be indulged in at the church beginning at 8 o'clock Sunday morning.

The Sunday school of the Christian church here bested that of Lancaster again Sunday. The attendance here was 263 against 203 at Lancaster. An excellent showing for the very disagreeable day.

The Ladies' Missionary Society of the Baptist church will meet with Mrs. J. S. Rice Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. The district association of Baptist women will be held at Harrodsburg on April 17th, and quite a number from the Stanford church will go over.

Central City has put a license of $1,000 on those places that sell malt mead or other decoctions of beer. The license is the same as that charged before the county went dry.

The Lexington Herald says that Bob Moreland has sold to W. S. Drye, of this county, his crack five-year-old gelding, Jackson Highway.

A West Virginia dispatch says that whisky sells at two and three dollars per pint in that state, which is legally dry. As it can only be procured from bootleggers and blind tiger operators, who handle a very inferior quality of the stuff, the present high cost of living is particularly hard on those who think they cannot exist without an eye opener or appetizer.

Stanford should turn out en masse to greet its guests from Knoxville to-morrow morning. Stanford is by far the best town of its size in Kentucky, and probably Tennessee too, for that matter, and we should prove this to our visitors in no uncertain way.

All who want to see Kentucky give an old-time majority for Woodrow Wilson in November will sincerely hope that no factional fight may develop at the coming state convention. And indications now are that it will not.

Those who have been shivering for the past several days because of the touch of wintry weather he have had can sympathize with citizens of the Lone Star State who paddled around through six inches of snow one day the past week.

MASONIC RESOLUTIONS.

Hall of Derrick Warner Lodge, No. 561.

Whereas, God in His infinite wisdom, saw fit to remove from us by death, Bro. David Scott on Jan. 23, 1916,

Therefore, be it resolved, that in his death the lodge has lost a true brother, the community an upright citizen, the family an affectionate father, and husband. He was faithful and just in all of his ways; was made a Master Mason October 7th, 1865; was the first master of Derrick Warner lodge, No. 561.

Second, that a copy of these resolutions be spread on our minute book, a copy be sent to the Masonic Home Journal, the Interior Journal, and a copy to the family of Brother Scott.

THE IRON CLAW

SEVEN. .SODE

"THE HOODED HELPER."

Margery Golden's serenely self-willed Aunt Agatha disliked animals almost as much as she disliked mysteries. And about her tranquil Cedar home she felt were transpiring events altogether too inexplicable to remain long to her liking.

So when Hannah, the plump but less practical-minded caretaker of that erstwhile abode of tranquillity, tremulously announced that a stranger in a yellow mask had left a bright-colored parrot, answering to the name of Tito, at the door for Miss Margery, the bird in question was viewed with open disfavor, and Margery was subjected to many disturbing interrogations.

None of the girl's answers proving satisfactory, however, her firm-willed maiden aunt proposed that they proceed with their interrupted game of "Preference." But a green parrot's instinct and enigmatic cry of "Look out for the Iron Claw!" proved in no way consistent with so tranquilizing a game, and the owner of the house finally and firmly commanded the departing Hannah, who "slept out," to carry the disturbing creature off to her own cottage for the night.

This Hannah did, with much mumbling, and deposited it in her chicken coop.

There Tito would have spent a quiet and uneventful night, in all likelihood, had not a certain mildly-predacious negress answering to the name of Jemima Watson, returned all but empty-handed to her suburban home. For one of the by-products of this dusky lady's activities as a scrub-woman was the gathering of those trifles which find their way to the waste baskets and refuse cans of office buildings. And her only harvest, on this occasion, was a half portion of a time-yellowed code chart and map, which had blown from the balcony of the Central.

Rastus Watson, Jemima's jond and master, flung the sheet of paper down on their kitchen table in disgust when it was placed before him as the extent of a day's "pickings."

Now, Rastus, who was of much portlier frame than his spouse, was a firm believer in the efficiency of forced feeding. And since the day's harvest had been a lean one, and the larder showed disturbing signs of emptiness, that plump-bodied negro possessed himself of a worn gunnysack and announced his determination of acquiring a few pullets while hunger ran high and the moon swung low. Instinct combined with fate to lead Rastus by the nose, take him stealthily over the backyard fence of the aforementioned Hannah, and from there to the door of the padlocked coop. It in the excitement of the moment the lightness of one bird tossed into the bag escaped his attention; it was perhaps due to the haste with which he had to make off with his prisoners. He was blinking cautiously about, to make sure the coast was clear, when a voice startlingly close to his own portly carcass called out with a sudden warning:

"Look out for the Iron Claw!"

"How's dat?" was the answering cry of the tingling Rastus.

"Look out for the Iron Claw!" repeated the voice so close behind him.

"Wha—what iron claw?" demanded the sweating Rastus.

"I'll get you!" announced the bodiful voice behind him. And at that threat utter and unreasoning panic seized the terrified Rastus, who, with a throaty bellow of agony, charged across a newly-dug garden and bounded like a rotund jackrabbit down a moonlit alley bordered with shadowy fences.

At the end of this alley Rastus plunged through a narrow gate, and charged boldly into the peaceful beergarten belonging to the roadhouse of one Antonio Dibello, where sat four men in quiet conference about one of the little iron tables well out of public ken.

These men showed prompt resentment at this unheralded interruption to their talk. But as the parrot, with its head thrust through a hole in the gunnysack, repeated its shrill cry of "Look out for the Iron Claw," these men rose in a body to their feet.

Their leader, who in even the dim light from the garden lamps showed himself to be a one-armed man with a strangely-scarred face, sprang for the terrified negro. Rastus, however, was in no mood for either interruption or argument. He merely emitted a whoop of reawakened terror and headed for home.

There he burst in upon the astounded Jemima and collapsed with a quavering groan of exhaustion. But before Jemima could either understand the nature of his ailment or investigate the contents of his gunnysack, a second and even more violent irruption took place. Legar and his men dragged the quaking and gasping Rastus to his feet, shoved him into a chair, and snatched up the gunnysack. From it they took out the loudly-protesting green parrot and wonderingly examined it.

"Where did you get that parrot?" was the quick demand of the man who wore an iron hook where a hand ought to be. Rastus merely wheezed and shook in the legs and showed the whites of his eyes. It was indeed, several minutes before he was so much as awakened to the fact that he was not in the grip of the law. But once convinced of that fact, he became voluble enough in his protestations to oblige the "white gent." With any information they desired, he opened these white gentlemen, who to the neighborhood of the chicken coop.

So engrossed were they in these discoveries that they had paid scant attention to Rastus himself, who took advantage of the diversion to disappear.

There were certain persons of that hurried pursuit, however, which had not entirely escaped the attention of a circumspect stranger who had motored casually about the quiet streets of Cedar-ton earlier in the evening. Aunt Jemima Watson, in fact, had scarcely recovered from the shock consequent upon the sudden invasion of her cottage when she discovered herself confronted by still another stranger. And the fact that this stranger wore a yellow mask did not add to her immediate peace of mind.

"All I want to know, my good woman, is where those men are taking your husband."

"De's takin' him back t' whar he done got dat bird," explained the negress. The stranger started for the door. Then he stopped, dead, short. For lying overlooked on the floor, close beside a battered water bucket, he caught sight of a familiar-looking oblong of yellow paper. In another moment he had possession of it.

"Where did that paper come from?" he demanded. For he knew that it was the long-sought Golden chart which he held in his hand.

"Dat done come from mah offus sweepin's," explained the other. "But mah Rastus allows it hain't even wuff a green tradin' stamp!"

"Your Rastus may be right," was the stranger's quiet reply. "But it's worth this much to me." And Aunt Jemima found a ten-dollar bill thrust into her astonished pink palm. "That is yours, my good woman; if you do just one thing, and do it quickly. I want you to go to the sheriff's, wake him up, and get him to the house where that woman called Hannah works. Tell him to get there in a hurry, and to bring his men, or there'll be murder done in this village before the sun rises!"

The man in the yellow mask waited for nothing more. A minute later he was off, running shadowlike through the darkness. Shadowlike, too, he approached an ivy-bowered bungalow in which three women were quietly playing "preference" in the light of a green-shaded reading lamp. But the man in the mask, preferring to leave that peaceful game undisturbed, stole quietly in through the back of the house, locked himself in a small room above stairs, and there adroitly but quickly made a facsimile of the map.

Before that map could be completed, though, strange events were already transpiring directly beneath where he sat. For Margery Golden, glancing up from her game, stared idly into the old-fashioned mirror of bevel plate facing her from the opposite wall. And peering in at the window reflected in that mirror she saw a bearded face seamed with an unmistakable scar.

She did not scream aloud, as her first impulse had prompted, but she sat staring down at her cards, trying to study out the dilemma which confronted her. For the face she had seen was Legar's.

The move she quietly decided upon was to call the strangely reluctant chauffeur of her strangely elusive deliverer and ask him to make ready for an immediate flight to the city. She watched that chauffeur as he threw on a heavy bear-skin coat and cap, wound a muffler about his neck, and started for the garage. She watched him as he stepped out into the darkness. Then the bear-skin figure became the center of strange and unlooked-for activities, for it was plain that several men, lurking there in the darkness, had sprung upon him. It was equally plain that they lost little time in overpowering him, for before the startled women could rise from the card table they found that home of peace invaded by a group of audacious-eyed ruffians headed by Legar himself.

The latter bowed ironically to the white-faced girl as he confronted her. His advance towards her, though, was interrupted by the suddenly renewed struggles of the chauffeur, who, as he tried to break away from his captors, called loudly for help. Legar, looking nonchalantly about, crossed to a door, swung it wide, and saw that it opened into a closet.

"Throw that grizzly in here until he learns how to keep quiet!" was their leader's crisp command.

"And now, my girl, I guess it's your turn again!" was his next sinister exclamation.

At the same moment that these words were spoken still another unexpected intruder entered the room. Only this time it was the oddly irruptive figure of that man of mystery known as the Laughing Mask.

"Not a move from any man here!" he cried out as he faced that threatening circle, gun in hand.

It was Legar himself who stepped back a pace or two, closely watching the automatic.

"Before we start any shooting around here," the Laughing Mask calmly suggested, "I want just a word or two, Legar, with you. I know what you're after. You want Golden's portion of a Windward Island chart. Well, I have that chart, and I have it with me. But there is no reason why women should be dragged into this fight. So the first thing you have to do, if you want that chart, is to allow Margery Golden and her mother here to return quietly to the city with my chauffeur, and return tonight!"

ESTABLISHED 1885
NASHVILLE, TENN.
WEST NASHVILLE

There is one thing that all laboring men agree on, and that is they cannot work without Overalls, and they want the best. They want them heavy; they want them wide in the leg; they want the old fashioned Indigo blue; the color that doesn't change; they want

O'Bryan's Duck Head Brand.

It has more goods in it: it is a little better shaped and dyed with indigo—the blue that does not wash out. We have just been notified by O'Bryan Bros. that every overall they make is Genuine Indigo Blue. That is what you want. Most of them now made by other people are log wood dyed and will fade. O'Bryan Bros. do not sell any one in Stanford but us the genuine indigo blue. Come to us for your Overalls. All sizes, from a child's 4 to a man's 50.

McROBERTS & BAILEY, STANFORD

Legar's lip curled.

"And then you'll as quietly hand me over the paper, I suppose?" he scoffed.

"I'll hand you over the paper," agreed the Laughing Mask, for above all things he knew it was necessary to play for time.

The gun and the map together, was the prompt demand.

"And then what?" inquired the Laughing Mask.

"Then you wait in this closet until I make sure it's the map I've got," announced the audacious Legar.

"I await your decision, gentlemen, in the jury room," mockingly announced the latter as he stepped into the closet.

Quick as a shot Legar shut and locked that door.

"We've got him, whatever his game is!" he announced as he darted across the room to the green-shaded lamp and placed the sheet of yellow paper down on the card table close beside a second piece which he had already drawn from his pocket.

"By God, I've got it!" exclaimed Legar.

"Let out that driver in the bear skins first," he commanded, "and if that fool in the mask tries to move, plug him one."

He handed the automatic to one of the men and motioned to him to unlock the closet door. Then he ordered the chauffeur to step out.

"Now, you beat it with these ribs, and beat it quick!"

That chauffeur had not taken six steps across the room before a sudden cry broke from one of the men standing close beside the card table.

"Your map's gone!" was the bewildering message that fell on Legar's ears as he leaped to the table side.

The man in the bear skins at the same moment stepped out through the door.

"That guy gave you a copy, a fake copy done in disappearing ink."

Legar gave one glance. Then, with an oath, he leaped for the closet door, flung it open, and sprang bodily on the masked figure, dragging it out to the light as he tore away the band of yellow that covered the latter's face.

"That's the chauffeur!" cried one of the men. "They switched makeups in that closet, and the main guy's got away!"

Then came a sudden trample of feet, a chorus of shouts and the charge of armed officers of the law through the house. For the sheriff had at last arrived.

Legar, knowing what that meant, with one sweep of his hooked arm flung the green-shaded lamp from its table, jumped through a window and vanished from sight.

INDIANS TAKE THE TRAIL

Apaches From Arizona Sent Into Mexico After Villa.

While Washington reports indicated improved conditions on the border and disposed of many rumors of an impending withdrawal of American forces in pursuit of Villa, further efforts on the part of the de facto Government of Mexico to take over the chase unassisted were indicated in a statement given out at Juarez by General Gabriel Gavira, Carranza commander. The statement, made in connection with Gen. Scott's announcement that the expeditionary force would consider its purpose accomplished when Villa bands were dispersed, said: "If we were able to overcome Villa when he had 70,000 men, we ought to be able now."

That more than eighty persons were killed and injured in the wrecking of the Mexican National train by Villa bands near Sombrerete March 27 was reported in another letter received at El Paso.

Twenty Apache Indian Scouts have started to General Pershing's headquarters at San Geronimo to take up the trail of Francisco Villa. With the arrival of their wily mountain ponies they will cross the border for the trip through the desert.

They sleep now on the ground, and not as they did on their journey to the border, on the floor of a sleeping car, the berths of which were unfamiliar and not to their liking. Only the arrival of "Peaches," described as premier scout and trailer of the Apaches, was needed to complete their happiness in the prospect of taking the warpath again, after more than 30 years of civilization, according to their interpreter.

"Peaches" was in the mountains and word did not reach him in time to start with the others from the White Mountain Apache Reservation in Arizona. However, the men said that "Peaches" probably is riding hard in an attempt to reach Columbus before the border is crossed.

Thirty years ago four of the 20 made a similar trip into Mexico to assist another cavalry commanding in the capture in the Sierra Madras of another outlaw, Geronimo, the war chief of the Apaches. It was "Peaches" together with Sharley, another of the scouts, who, after Geronimo had made his escape from the soldiers at Mescalero, N. M., and again took up the warpath, went into the old medicine man's camp near Phoenix, Ariz., and captured him.

As the scouts, clad in the khaki of the cavalry, prepared for their departure, only the eagle feathers, the Apache insignia of war, stuck into the tightly woven braids of long black hair which hung over the shoulders of their army blouses, suggested the primitive native of America. The feathers had been carefully preserved in the teepees of the tribe since it was last on the warpath, it was said. Tucked away in each man's shirt was a small package wrapped in buckskin containing a pair of moccasins. Eskandhesta, better known as "Chicken," the ranking officer of the band, explained that once on the trail of Villa among forests and cliffs of Guerrero, the scouts will discard their uniforms and continue the search as did their forefathers before the civilization of the white man enveloped them.

Among the Indians are several graduates of Haskell Indian Institute of Lawrence, Kan., including Charlie Shipp, Police Judge of the reservation.

"We are going to bring Villa back," said M. Jese Valesque, interpreter for the party. "Our men were pledged to do so in a great war dance, the first for years, and they cannot go back on their word. These men are man-hunters—men who can follow a trail of broken twigs and disturbed dust as readily as you can read a printed page."

Valesque said that the warriors, some of whom are more than 70 years old, donned war paint and danced throughout the night before they left, as they did years ago, and then, without sleep, rode horseback 60 miles to the nearest railroad station.

Heard About Town

A. C. Alfrod, who is making Danville one of the best policemen she ever had, was here yesterday and was given the glad hand by everybody.

Charles C. Davis, who has been a druggist at Mt. Vernon for years, has sold his store there to Robert Henry Miller and bought the Brown-Proctoria drug store at Winchester.

J. S. Gilmer near Moreland, caught a female fox and six young ones on his place last week, and will endeavor to raise the young ones if he does not sell them.

W. L. McCarty sold the Ford touring car he advertised in the I. J. last week to B. McMullin, of Eubank, who saw the ad the first time it appeared and saved a lot of money in the purchase of a car at the same time securing a bargain.

S. P. Shoop, the well known carpenter and contractor of Waynesburg, was in town court day, looking for a pure bred Newfoundland pup. He could learn of no one here who has one and would be glad to hear from anyone who can supply what he wants at a reasonable figure.

In giving a list of the names of the Turnersville Supply Company, the I. J. inadvertently omitted the name of Dave Kennedy, the popular democrat and expert fox hunter of that section. There's very little going on that amounts to much that Dave is not in, and he is a full-fledged member of the hustling company which has bought out Cash's store.

Sunday's Courier Journal had a picture and an interesting write-up of Miss Sophia Alcorn and her deaf blind pupil, Oma Simpson. The paper gave a history of the little girl's life and said that she was almost as wonderful as Helen Keller and that also the teacher was as wonderful as the pupil. Miss Alcorn's home is here and she is the daughter of Mrs. Sophia Alcorn and Stanford feels proud to claim such a talented young woman.

Hustonville

Born, to the wife of Frank Martin, of Frog Branch, a bouncing 8-pound girl baby, which has been named Rubie.

C. C. Combost of the Liberty Roller Mills was here last week on business.

Mrs. Daniel Traylor of Stanford, was up last week and spent overnight with her parents on West Main street.

Mrs. J. K. Helm, of Richland Heights, was in town Saturday shopping.

Dr. Alcorn had the front of Isaac Brandenburg's store painted last week.

Josiah Bishop delivered last week to Moreland, two cars of extra good Timothy hay at $15 per ton. It was consigned to Somerset parties.

Saturday was one of the most disagreeable days we ever witnessed here.

Rev. C. R. Blain, of Pineville, will preach two sermons at the Presbyterian church on the 23rd, morning and night.

Rev. Blain will be here on the 19th to accompany Mr. Charles Wheeler to Perryville to attend the Presbytery of this district.

Stewart Sandidge returned from Lexington last week with grand saddle stallion, Easter Prince. He will be at the horse show here next Saturday, 15th, notice of which will appear in the I. J. This horse is said by experts to be the coming three-year-old champion.

S. A. Walker and family moved to Lancaster Monday, to make that place their future home.

D. W. Dunn will have a variety of sweet potato plants for sale this spring. He also has a splendid variety of cabbage, tomato and celery plants.

On March 3rd, Wm. Dodd and J. W. Powell, of the West End, visited their old friend, Uncle Thomas Weatherford, who has been an invalid for many years; and on April 6th, were called back to attend his burial. His community loses one of their very best citizens. He was well known here, and elsewhere in Lincoln and will be greatly missed by all.

Do not forget the Horse Show here next Saturday, April 15.

T. L. Carpenter is at home again and is ready to answer any and all inquiries concerning the clock factory and the president, E. C. Hopper, is also on hand at all times for consultation in regard to the matter.

Every Family Needs This Splendid Remedy

COMPOUND OF SIMPLE LAXATIVE HERBS RECOMMENDED FOR CONSTIPATION

When a remedy has stood the test of critical analysis and strong competition for over a quarter of a century and establishes itself as the indispensable household remedy in thousands of homes, it is pretty good evidence of its efficacy.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has been on the market since 1889, its use being gradually extended until now it is generally regarded by druggists as the staple family laxative. It is a combination of simple laxative herbs, free from opiates or narcotic drugs, gentle in its action and positive in effect. It costs only fifty cents a bottle and can be purchased in drug stores everywhere.

Mr. Frank Klima, of 2309 Ashland Ave., Baltimore, Md., wrote Dr. Caldwell recently that he had tried about everything without being helped until he got a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which he considers the greatest known remedy for indigestion, constipation and stomach troubles.

Get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your druggist and keep it in the house. A trial bottle free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 454 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

Tried Various Kidney Remedies But Only One Proved Reliable

It is with great pleasure that I write these lines of praise for your wonderful kidney and bladder remedy. I had kidney trouble so bad I became very much alarmed. I had tried various kidney remedies I heard of but without relief. I was about discouraged of ever being helped. When, one day I picked up a book containing testimonials of people who had been helped and cured of their kidney trouble by the use of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. I sincerely hope my words will be the means of restoring many other sufferers of kidney and bladder troubles to good health.

Very truly yours,
B. J. FENSTERMAKER.

A. W. Carpenter, of the West End, has just shipped four very choice roan Polled Durham bulls and heifers to W. R. Moorman, of Glendean, Breckinridge county.

Leslie Sloan, of Hubble, sold to W. O. Walker the yearling filly he bought at the sale of the late Carroll Dudderar's horses Monday at a nice profit.

M. L. Lawrence, on the Preachersville pike, sold to Sterling Curtis on the Crab Orchard pike, a four-year-old grey gelding for $175. From Henry Lunsford Mr. Lawrence bought a sow and eight pigs for which he paid $27.50.

Black Bess, the great walking mare owned by Deputy Collector H. R. Saufley has dropped a handsome bay filly colt, sired by the noted Ashland Brook, owned by Col. S. T. Harris. Judges of horsemanship pronounced the young lady as exceptionally fine. She has been christened Bessie Brook.

Henry Catron, has just returned from Rockcastle county where he bought 18 head of porkers that averaged about 140 pounds, to feed at his nice farm on the Crab Orchard pike. They cost him 7 1-2 cents a pound. Among other live stock which Mr. Catron has bought recently were a cow from Wm. Thompson, for $25; and a cow and calf from the Widow Merrill, near Holdam's Mill for $55.

James H. Yowell, of Hustonville, bought of R. R. Damron, of Dunnville, 110 hogs last week that ran in weight from 125 to 200 pounds. He paid $8.25 a hundred for them. From Mr. Sandidge, near Milledgeville, Mr. Yowell bought 15 stock shots that averaged 70 pounds, at $7.50. From J. A. Young, of Adair county, who came through to Stanford court with a big herd, Mr. Yowell bought 13 head of two-year-old steers at $45 a head.

J. W. Phillips, of Lebanon, who was in Stanford Monday looking for some war mules, could find only a few. Mr. Phillips says that the country has been almost denuded of hybrids which are at all serviceable for use in the armies. He managed to secure three here, which seemed to suit his purpose. From C. F. Thompson, of the East End he bought a couple of six-year-old horse mules for $300; and he paid $135 for another from a gentleman whose name he did not learn.

Mrs. Hugh M. Noe sold to Jack Rout, a nice cow and calf for $65.

R. H. Crowe sold an "Aberdeen Angus" bull a year old, March 25th to Robert Allen, of Casey, for $100.

E. G. Gilliland, of the Waynesburg section, bought of the same community, a pair of coming five-year-old mules from S. L. Marshall, for $325.

The highest average price ever paid for spring lambs at the Kansas City Stock Yards was registered last Wednesday, when 15 head, averaging 46 pounds, sold for $17 per hundred. The previous record price was $15, made in 1915.

Lucien Moore, of Adair county, who makes Stanford court day pretty regularly, sold to Jay Weil, of Lexington, a herd of 23 stock cattle at $52.50. Mr. Weil in turn sold these to S. H. Baughman, of this city, at $52.50.

Yowell & Eads, of Hustonville, sold to T. W. Jones, of Stanford, Saturday, a drove of 110 hogs that averaged 150 pounds, at $8.30 a hundred. From W. T. Tucker, of Stanford, Mr. Jones bought a drove of 19 averaging 210 pounds, at $8.75.

J. M. Roberts, of Somerset sold Monday 15 calves to Tom Hill, of Garrard, at $26 a head; two heifers at six cents per pound to Meece, of Williamstown, and one cow for $29 and other mixed stuff from four to seven and a half cents to various parties. Mr. Roberts bought five calves at $22 a head from Joe Phillips.

The Lexington tobacco market closed for the season last week with total sales of 35,316,430 pounds, which brought $3,718,820.08, an average of $10.53 per hundred pounds. The year previous the Lexington market sold 56,000,000 pounds of tobacco, for an average of $8.24 per hundred pounds.

The entire herd of the famous show Duroc-Jersey hogs of Louis Lee Haggin, of Lexington, were sold to J. A. Serpell and J. W. Barnett, Jr., proprietors of Mayfield Farm, near Lexington on the Georgetown pike. The herd numbers 120 head and the deal is the biggest one in the history of the breed, both in numbers and quality of animals sold. The animals sold include some of the most noted Durocs in the world. The herd books include Pal's Success, for which Mr. Haggin paid $1,500.

Miss Olga Chick, aged 17, of Ferguson, Logan county, is the prize Canning Club girl of the state of Kentucky. In the summer of 1915 she raised 5,944 pounds of tomatoes on a plot of one-tenth of an acre, and canned 1,076 cans of tomatoes alone, besides 296 cans of other products, all of which netted her $121.60 for the season. Miss Chick won the State Prize of $25 and the Logan county prize of $15, which is a remarkable record for a 17-year-old girl in her first season of canning club work.

B. G. Fox, of Boyle, who was over Court Day looking for some likely mules, reported that he has made the following sales recently: to K. Duni-gan, near Hubble, a pair of three-year-old mare mules for $300; to W. H. Thurmond, of Atoka, a pair of two-year-old mare mules for $300; to W. E. Keeton, near Hubble, a pair of five-year-old horse mules, for $300; to W. E. Keeton, near Hubble, a pair of five-year-old horse mules, for $300; to Allen Edelen, of Burgin, a pair of four-year-old horse mules for $300.

BARNEY

I will stand my fine, big German Coach Stallion, Barney, for the season of 1916 at J. L. Hasty's farm, one mile north of Level Green; three miles east of Walnut Grove and three miles south of Quail, at

$8 to insure a Colt 4 Months Old
Barney is 16 1-2 hands high, and weighs 1,350 pounds; has fine bone and body and will get you the highest priced work horses to be found anywhere; the big fine fellows that bring the money. Come and see him before breeding your mares. Care taken to prevent accidents but not responsible should any occur.
J. A. HASTY Level Green, Ky.

EASTER PRINCE 6636

For the season of 1916 I offer for public service, the splendid individual and royally bred young combined saddle and harness stallion, Easter Prince 6636, brown colt, star, 2 hind feet white, 15.3 hands, foaled 1913, is sired by Prince Roe 4295, by Bourbon Prince 2144, by Bourbon Chief 976. 1st dam Duchess of Denmark, by Duke of Denmark 795, by Gen. Duke 1902. Easter Prince 6636 will stand for mares at my barn in Lincoln county, on the Hustonville and Danville pike, at $15.00 TO INSURE LIVING COLT. Care taken to prevent accidents, but not responsible should any occur. The insurance is forfeited if mare is sold or traded or bred to another horse. Breed your mares to this horse and get colts that will sell for the high dollar.
STEWART SANDIDGE, Hustonville.

W. M. Anderson, of Ottenheim, bought recently 14 hogs from Henry Fields at 8 1-4 cents a pound; three calves from Dr. Morris for $24 per head; a calf from Henry Fields for $15 and later disposed of the three calves to Shanks & Myers, at $30 a head.

WHITLEY BANK'S FINE MOVE

Will Distribute Fine Breeding Stock Among Farmer Friends.

The Bank of Williamsburg, Whitley county, has certainly adopted a progressive way to induce the farmers of that county to improve their livestock, hogs, and other farm animals. M. J. Hoffman, of Williamsburg, came to Stanford Monday, court day, to endeavor to buy a number of extra bulls and Red Duroc boars, which the bank will distribute without charge among its farmer friends for the coming season. Next season a redistribution will be made, and fresh blood, in this way, added to the herd of each farmer. Mr. Hoffman made no purchases Monday, but is looking at some good breeding stock, which has been priced right by the owners.

BIG CROWD HORSE SHOW DAY

Few Blooded Equines Shown, But All Were Classy Animals

Stanford's annual Horse Show day Monday, as usual brought a great big crowd to town, and everybody was on the hustle all day long. Merchants report business fine. There was a lot of stock on the cattle market, some extra choice stuff, and what horses were shown were also good. They made up in quality what they lacked in numbers. Monday might really have been called Auto Show day for by far more automobiles were parked about the court house, and exhibited by aspiring agents and owners, than there were equines on exhibition in Carter's stable.

Owing to the severe weather which has prevailed for the past several weeks, few of the owners had gotten their stallions in shape to make a good show, and consequently had to keep them in the barns. What were here were seen by an immense throng when they were led out shortly after noon and put through their paces or paraded with halter on lower Main street. Among the fine animals noticed were:

Barney, a handsome big bay German coach horse, owned by J. A. Hasty of Level Green, Rockcastle county. Mr. Hasty rode his animal and had it highly complimented.

The Crab Orchard Company's Percheron, Sir Ray, was shown by B. W. Gaines, and had a lot of admirers. R. C. Hocker, on the Knob Lick pike, had a youngster which is bound to attract a lot of attention from the saddle horsemen a little later. This was the two-year-old Rex Peavine, a very handsome animal.

John Buster, of Burgin, brought over his handsome chestnut Bourbon Knight and had him in fine shape for the show.

Nevin Carter had his great stallion Kentucky Gentleman shown to halter, as Mr. Carter has been laid up with rheumatism for some time and has been totally unable to put his horses in shape. He did not bring in his fine big Percheron Voltaire, but had him well advertised.

Rowland Peavine, the sensational young stallion which J. C. Bailey bought at the Carroll Dudderar sale Monday morning, was shown in the afternoon by his new owner, and attracted a lot of favorable attention. This young stallion is regarded as a sure comer by all horsemen. He was shown to halter.

Ollie Johnson, over the Garrard line, had a fine big grey Percheron, in Brilliant D., while Morgan S. Baughman showed his crack little Shetland stallion, Prince.

The old reliable and always popular Carroll Preston was brought out by Walter O. Walker, and Homer Wray getting in from Danville just in time, was put on the back of the famous campaigner and made a fine show with him. Carroll Preston is in finer shape than ever this year and promises to have a big season.

Stewart Sandidge, of Milledgeville, was here advertising his great young stallion Easter Prince, by Prince Roe which he will make the season within the west end. Horsemen say this young stallion is a great prospect.

Dick Scudder, of McKinney, was on hand advertising his famous All Peavine, and another stallion, which he will stand this season.

Joe McDowell, of Danville, booked several mares here Monday to his champion Kentucky's Choice, which he did not bring over, but will have on exhibition at Danville next Monday.

W. B. Burton, of Lancaster, was boosting for his great harness stallion, Bleucher, which he did not get ready to bring over and exhibit on account of the bad weather last week. Bleucher has proven very popular here, however.
